

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Somebody Owes Money

Washington, Sept. 15. PROBABLY, some day, the Treasury will announce its decision concerning the tax liability, if any, of Mr. John Hartford, of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, who, after talking with President Roosevelt, loaned his son Elliott $200,000, and Elliott, for whom at the request of his father, Mr. Jesse Jones settled the loan for $4,000, which he paid out of his own pocket and for which he has not been reimbursed.

—O—

WHY the Treasury is unable more promptly to decide this matter is hard to explain. Many weeks ago it had all the facts in detailed depositions from Mr. Hartford, Mr. Jones and Elliott's tax expert. Clearly, somebody owes the Government. Or, at least, so it seems to most laymen. If Mr. Hartman is not entitled to deduct the $196,000 he is out on the transaction as a bad debt, then it would seem that it was a gift to Elliott and that Mr. Hartman owes the Government the gift tax. But if he is entitled to deduct the $196,000 as a bad debt, then it would apparently be income for Elliott, who would owe the Government the tax.

—O—

OF COURSE, Elliott may have lost the whole $200,000 in his business and claim it as a deduction, too. But it does not seem possible that both he and Mr. Hartford could be permitted to deduct the same money from their separate returns. That would be to doublecross the Government in a pretty big way and to make real suckers of the taxpayers generally. Here is a transaction in which one man is ahead $200,000 and the other behind $196,000. To repeat, obviously somebody owes the Government. The question before the Treasury is—which?

—O—

THIS MAY seem a trivial matter to some but there is a vast amount of public interest in it all over the country and there is a lot more at stake than the money. For one thing, the public is interested in knowing whether the losses in this transaction, which was creditable neither to the lender, the borrower nor the borrower's father, who was then President, are to be borne by the Government—which means the other taxpayers. The amount may seem small, but the principle isn't. For another, the decision will either enhance or diminish public confidence in the courage and impartiality of the Treasury in tax matters. For another, it will help establish certain facts about the late President essential to a correct estimate of him. All that is important. It would be unfortunate, indeed, if the decision were such as to justify the idea that influence or policies or personalities had entered into it. It is certainly desirable that it be clearly on merit and of a character to convince the people as a whole that the principals in this case, including the tax expert, formerly a Treasury official, have not had any different treatment than would have been given any other taxpayer.

—O—

THERE is now a suggestion that in the end the buck may be passed to the Court of Tax Appeals and that Mr. Hartford will be permitted to take his $196,000 deduction and nothing at all will be done about it.

76 JAPANESE NEWSPAPERS ARE BACK IN BUSINESS TODAY AFTER A NINETEEN-HOUR BLACKOUT

All Depended on Propaganda and the News Reports of Domei, Which Was Permitted to Resume Operation at Noon Today—If It Wants Foreign News It Must Buy It from American Press Ass'n Services

By Howard Handelman
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Sept. 15.—(INS)—Seventy-six Japanese daily newspapers were back in business today after a nineteen-hour news blackout which resulted from General Douglas MacArthur's padlocking of the Domei News Agency.

All the Jap newspapers relied heavily on the propaganda and news reports of Domei which was permitted to resume operation at noon today on a restricted basis.

In the future Domei must operate only in the domestic field and will not be permitted to use its existing foreign service. If Domei wants foreign news it can buy it from the American Press Association services, it was told, or rely on official American sources.

The nineteen-hour closure of Domei, American officials said, was made in order to "discipline" Domei for circulating new and harmful stories which endangered the "tranquillity of the public."

Inosuke Furuno, president of Domei, was told in clear cut language on just what terms the Japanese government's main propaganda instrument may continue to operate. Furuno had denied that Domei had been receiving instructions from the Japanese Government.

The temporary shutdown of Domei left no doubt that the Allied Supreme Commander intends to rule Japan with a firm hand, and that the Jap government will be permitted to function only to forestall "social chaos, disease and starvation."

The first phase of the occupation of Japan, MacArthur emphasized in his "no kid glove" statement, "is coupled with the paramount consideration" of rescuing Allied prisoners still in filthy Jap camps.

Joint army and navy rescue teams are speeding their search of the Jap home islands for these camps. Third Fleet Headquarters of Admiral William F. Halsey announced today that 864 of an estimated 3,000 Allied internees had been removed up to midnight Thursday from three camps in the Sendai-Kamaishi area of northern Honshu.

Third Fleet headquarters also announced that fleet units under command of Roger Simpson brought 749 repatriates to Yokohama yesterday, including 586 Americans, 91 Dutch, 44 Australians and 28 British, including two women.

Carrier pilots, meanwhile, reported they located another POW camp

GLEANEED BY SCRIBES

In session at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Charles B. Ermentrout, Southampton, the branch of the Red Cross resumed its monthly meetings following the Summer recess. Eleven directors and chairmen attended the meeting which was devoted largely to summarizing the accomplishments during the Summer.

Mrs. Ermentrout introduced the new camp and hospital council chairman, Mrs. George Beidler, Churchville, and the new Junior Red Cross chairman, Mrs. F. Eugene Klingler, of Southampton, who has succeeded Mrs. Lawrence Cushman.

Report was made by Mrs. Harry Ross, the production chairman, that 50 pairs of rompers, 17 pairs of slippers and 19 wash cloths had been made during the Summer.

Hilltown township schools opened the new school year with large enrollments, new teachers, and big plans for a successful term.

The enrollment in grades 1 to 4 is 216; grades 5 to 8, 176, and in the high school all previous records were broken by an enrollment of 150.

Mrs. Florence Hager is the new teacher at Swartley's school. She replaced Mrs. Eleanor Gibbert, who resigned last Spring. Pupils were proud to welcome as a new member of the faculty Mrs. Margaret Seylar, teacher of Gehman's school. Mrs. Seylar holds an enviable record as a teacher in this county. She is a past president of the Bucks County Teachers' Association.

HURRICANE RUSHES TO FLORIDA PENINSULA

Warnings Extend Along West Coast of That State and North to Naples 200 MILES IN WIDTH

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 15.—(INS)—The hurricane hurtling towards the lower part of the Florida Peninsula was but 200 miles southeast of Miami today at 5 a. m.

An advisory of the Miami Weather Bureau at that hour said the storm was centered at latitude 23.7 north, longitude 78.5 west, and that while it was still moving north-westward it was possible the storm would make a slow turn to the north later in the day.

Hurricane warnings were extended along the Florida west coast and keys north to Naples.

First warnings of the approaching storm's fury reached Miami and other coastal cities around midnight in the form of high winds and pelting rain.

The 200-mile wide hurricane was described by the weather bureau as "very severe" with winds "well over 100 miles per hour near the center."

It was moving northward at 16 to 18 miles an hour and was expected to pass over the Florida keys, south of Miami, this afternoon. The advisory said the center of the storm would hit the keys and that winds of full hurricane force extended 100 miles out from the center.

Thousands of residents along the Peninsula's coast lines meantime rushed preparations to meet the full fury of the storm. Red Cross officials evacuated several hundred persons from points along the keys and warned all in exposed areas to seek safe shelters.

Red Cross workers were in the

DESCRIBES RECENT TRIP TO CALIFORNIA

Harry Wilson Addresses Members of Middletown Grange At Meeting

LANGHORNE, Sept. 15.—An interesting account of his tour recently to California was given by Harry Wilson, lecturer of Middletown Grange, at the Grange meeting Wednesday evening.

Speaking before some 20 members, Mr. Wilson commented especially about the farming conditions throughout the West and Canada, through which he made his return trip.

Weather conditions in the West at the time he made the trip, said Mr. Wilson, were not normal, and this had some effect upon the crops. He told of his visit to the agricultural sections and to the red wood forests in California and described harvesting methods in Canada.

Charles D. Downes, the overseer, had charge of the business session in the absence of the master, Stanley Twining. Announcement was made by the home economics committee that it would like each member to bring a spool of thread and needle to the next meeting, and these will be sent to Holland. This committee also spoke of the sewing contest to be sponsored by the Pomona and State Granges. In honor of the members in the military service the group sang "America the Beautiful."

Reports of the quarterly meeting of Pomona Grange, No. 22, held at Penns Park last Wednesday were given by Harry Wilson, Mrs. Henry C. Pickering, R. Walker Jackson and George H. Yerkes.

The next meeting of the Grange will be held on Wednesday evening, Sept. 26th. The program for that occasion has not been arranged.

JEWISH NEW YEAR

The Jewish Day of Atonement, or Yom Kippur, occurs this year on Sunday night, September 16th, and all day Monday, September 17th. It is observed by Jews everywhere as a day of prayer, repentance and fasting. The eve of the holiday is marked by a religious service called Kol Nidrei because of an ancient and beautiful prayer which is chanted on this occasion asking for forgiveness even for the sins which were committed unwittingly and unwillingly.

OPA AND COMMUNISM

It is high time for Congress to recognize OPA's price policies for what they are and do something about them.

The "reconversion line" as laid down by Chester Bowles, Price Administrator, is part of a brazen plot to nationalize American industry — through the cashier's windows and behind the backs of the American people.

Its essential difference from the Labor Party's National Socialism program in Great Britain is that the English cards are on the table, while the American "putz" is wearing false whiskers.

But the Bowles program, which thus far has the full blessing and support of President Truman, is a Communist pincer-movement against free enterprise and the American system.

A pincer-movement is a military operation that works like a pair of scissors. Two arms go out, penetrate, and then cut off what lies between.

One arm of the New Deal's attempted blitz is the wage policy.

From President Truman down, the New Dealers are busy passing the word that wages now can be increased. Strikes and wage-demands are showing up across the nation reflecting the rapid rise in recent years of the cost of living. It has been a piece of monstrous misrepresentation for Chester Bowles and others to pretend that they have "held the line" against price increases.

Uncontrolled prices, such as those on real estate, tell the story—such prices are up from 50 to 100 per cent. Stock market prices tell the same story.

In the field of controlled prices, where OPA draws the evidence which it pretends denies inflation, the fixed prices have been held only at the expense of billions of dollars of national subsidies.

Inflation is here, and moving rapidly.

President Roosevelt inherited a 100-cent dollar from Republican administrations. One of his early acts was to inflate it—to drop its value to a 59-cent level.

Galloping debts, deficit currency, overspending by government, and undercover gold manipulations have pushed inflation ahead at a steadily-mounting pace.

President Truman's recent Message to Congress was strongly inflationary in tone. It was so construed in every money center in the world.

Inflation means higher costs of production and increasing demands for larger wages.

That is one arm of the pincers.

The other is the stubborn insistence of Chester Bowles that prices will be frozen at the 1942 level, regardless of consequences and regardless of logic.

Virtually every conceivable branch of industry and commerce, from raw-material producers to manufacturers to wholesalers to retailers, have protested that higher costs at old prices are an economic impossibility—that without a margin of profit reconversion cannot take place successfully.

Bowles has reiterated—"again and again and again"—that industry must absorb increased costs at the old prices.

VOLTZ-TEXACO IX PINS ITS HOPES ON CAREY'S ARM

Gasoleers cheduled to Meet
The Strong American
Steel Nine

FINAL GAME OF SERIES

Series is Even and Bristol
Team Expects to Win
Deciding Match

The Voltz-Texaco team will pin its hopes on the arm of Al Carey tomorrow afternoon as the gasoleers meet the American Steel team in the final game of the three-game series to determine who should meet the winners of the Roebing-Prison Officers. The game will be played on Wetzel field, Trenton, starting at three o'clock. To date the series is even with one win each. Carey pitched the Voltz-men to the triumph last week and did remarkably well in the opening game when he blanked the Steelers for seven innings.

Manager George Dougherty is not contemplating any change in the line-up and feels that if Carey can stop the heavy hitters of Moe Coffee and company, then the remainder of the Voltz team can score enough runs to win.

It is most likely that Clayton will draw the pitching assignment from Coffee with Plunkett being behind the plate.

MASTERTON COMES BACK AND SCORES A VICTORY

"Walt" Masterson, formerly a hurler for Dave Landreth's ball team came back to the majors on Thursday and pitched the Washington Senators to a 4-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers. The win put the Senators one-half game away from the league-leading Tigers.

In pitching his triumph, Masterson bested Bob Feller and held the Tigers to but two base hits.

It was the first game Masterson has pitched since the 1942 season when he entered the Navy. He was recently discharged.

Masterson hurled many games for the Landreth Seeds team on Sullivan's field and is well known in this vicinity.

Elliott's $200,000 profit—on the theory that he lost that in his business. Or they may, after the Hartford decision, take Elliott's returns under "further consideration" and then indefinitely postpone everything, with the idea that the public does not care. Certainly, that would make the Government the complete goat. Probably, it would end the case, but it would seem an unsatisfactory end—and undesirable from the Treasury's and the taxpayer's viewpoint. It also seems a pity that before the whole shoddy affair is finally dismissed, Elliott should not answer the question in so many minds—to wit: why, if he needed this money and could not get it from the banks, he did not get it from his father, who was worth well over a million dollars; or his mother, who had made much more than half a million in the last ten years; or his brother, Jimmie, who cleaned up very handsomely in the insurance business; or his brother, Franklin, Jr., who married a du Pont?

IN OTHER words, why didn't he go to his own rich family, which easily could have put the money up, instead of to rich anti-New Dealers whom he did not know and who lent him the money solely because he was the son of the President, whom they had reason to believe wanted the loans made? And with all the money in the Roosevelt family, people are entitled to know more about why the late President lent his son default on his loans and then got his subordinate, the Federal Loan Administrator, to fix them up at 2 cents on the dollar. Does Elliott still claim it an "infamous lie" to suggest that his father helped him in his financial transactions or does he admit the truth of the sworn statement of Mr. Jones and Mr. Hartford? There seems slight chance now that these questions will be answered either in court or committee. And, certainly, the Treasury, in its decision, will steer clear of them. Yet one would think Mr. Roosevelt's family and friends would insist upon answering them in detail. Not to insist seems a poor way to defend Mr. Roosevelt's character. This is not a matter of "smearing" a dead man. It involves the truth about a President of the United States. And that concerns all of us.

are not allowed to pick up more than six standing passengers, and no standees are permitted on the new twin coach. He said that an effort is being made to obtain more buses to remedy the situation. An appeal was made by the owner of the line to obtain permission for an increase of weight when using the Calhoun bridge. Council agreed to seek a conference with the State commissioner and report at a later meeting.

National Dog Week will be observed in Doylestown on September 21, when the Bucks County Kennel Club and the Doylestown schools will co-sponsor a pet dog show to be held out of doors on the Barpee Memorial Playgrounds. Ellis Coulton of Doylestown, is the chairman of National Dog Week activities.

The pet dog show was planned at a meeting of the Kennel Club. The show, which will be open to all school children up to 16 will be judged by E. O. Semple, president of the club. There will also be a composition contest of not more than 100 words on "Why every boy and girl should own a dog." Compositions must be returned to the high school not later than 3 o'clock next Wednesday afternoon Sept. 19th. The compositions will be judged by Mrs. Ruth Hathway, secretary of the Kennel Club, and cash prizes will be awarded the winners.

At the dog show there will be prizes for the largest dog, the smallest dog, for the boy and girl having the best behaved dog, the dog with the most personality and the best in match.

Hurricane Rushes To Florida Peninsula

field directing evacuations and preparing for emergencies.

Army and Navy authorities, recognizing the potential destructiveness of the disturbance, took precautions to lessen their losses. The Navy last night completed flight of several hundred planes based at Miami to points regarded as safe, while craft of the Army Transport Command were flown to safer bases in Florida, Georgia and Alabama.

Four thousand military personnel, including 200 WACS, billeted at the Miami army airfield, moved to the Miami race track and were housed in more substantial buildings. Those who could not be accommodated at the track were sent to sturdy colonnades buildings in Coral Gables. Many carried field stoves and two days' provisions.

Residents, both native and visitors, were rushing preparations to meet the high winds and driving rains. Their hammers rang an ascending anvil chorus as they beat against shutters and boards. Everything loose was either fastened down or taken indoors, swinging signs were removed or anchored and water craft moved to safer areas.

From serene Biscayne Bay streamed scores of speedy subchasers through the channel to the open sea, considered safer for them than Miami docks. Smaller craft took refuge on the Miami River several miles inland, as did numerous small pleasure boats.

All passes and leaves were cancelled at the Miami naval air station and the entire personnel ordered to report to their commands last night.

The 11 p. m. advisory on the storm placed the hurricane at that hour at latitude 23 degrees north longitude 76.6 west or about 100 miles southeast of Miami.
